WALKER COUNSEL MAY SEEK ORDER TO BLOCK ACTION

Curtin Considering Demand For Writ To Prevent Decision By Roosevelt Until Legality of Proceedings Is Decided.

SHERWOOD ANGLE DUE TO BE AIRED

Governor Expected To Turn Today to Accountant and 'Unknown' Money Receiver.

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—John J. Curtin, chief counsel to Mayor James J. Walker, said tonight that before the present hearing is over he may go into the courts and demand an injunction requiring Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt to wait for a decision until the legality of the proceedings is established.

Later he explained that such action was being considered only in the event that Governor Roosevelt did not permit the mayor to call the witnesses on whose testimony Samuel Seabury based his "conclusions" which form the basis of the hearing before the governor.

He said "if the governor calls the witnesses that Seabury relied on to draw his conclusions then there will be no court action."

It is the contention of the mayor's counsel that the procedure followed by Governor Roosevelt in hearing charges on which is based a demand for Walker's removal is illegal because the governor has admitted as evidence the records, including testimony and evidence, of the Hofstadter legislative committee, assembled during the last two years at a cost to the state of nearly three quarters of a million dollars.

Governor's Power.

Mayor Walker's counsel has labeled these records as "partie evidence," has asserted that in the opinion of the governor is acting in a judicial capacity, and has demanded that the present hearing be conducted as a trial, with the witnesses present, to be examined and cross-examined.

Up until today it was said that, if Walker took the matter to the courts, he would not do so until after the hearing was over and the decision rendered.

"If we are going to take it to court," Curtin said tonight, "the hearing brought the mayor and his party back to Albany for resumption of the session tomorrow, 'we'll go before the hearing is ended.'"

"We don't want to take a chance of locking the stable door after the horse is stolen."

Governor Roosevelt has granted both to Walker and his opponents the right to call any witnesses they may desire. He ruled Friday, however, that the Hofstadter committee records were evidence, and has questioned the mayor on their contents.

Wants Them in Albany.

It is the contention of Walker and his advisers that the testimony of the witnesses before the committee should be disregarded, and that they should be brought to Albany to be examined and cross-examined in person, as in a trial in the courts.

Curtin did not indicate whether the legal action, if there is any, would be started in New York or in Albany. If it is started before the hearing is ended, it likely will have to be started this week. Just how much longer the hearing will last is problematical. Neither side has indicated how many witnesses, if any, it will call.

Economic Conference Called For August 26 by Hoover

Business and Industrial Committees of 12 Federal Reserve Districts Will Meet To Form Program.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—President Hoover today set August 26 as the date of a White House conference of the business and industrial committees of the 12 federal reserve districts, "for the purpose of organizing a concerted program of action along the whole economic front."

The conference will deal with specific projects where definite accomplishments in business, agriculture and employment can be attained and will co-ordinate the mobilization of private and governmental instrumentalities to that end," Mr. Hoover said.

The chief executive added that he planned to appoint special committees to deal with questions directly concerning agriculture, labor, railways and other industries.

Mr. Hoover enumerated the subjects to be "considered and definitely coordinated," as follows:

"A canvass of the means, methods, agencies and powers available in the country for general advancement; wider expansion of credit facilities to business and industry where consumption of goods is assured; co-ordination and expansion of live stock and agricultural facilities; co-ordination and expansion of financial facilities for the movement of commodities into consumption; expansion of programs for repairs and maintenance of the railways; and creation of organization for further spread of existing employment and expansion of employment."

Among "possible questions" to come up for consideration the president listed the coming world economic conference, protection of bond holders and

METZ, France, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Premier Edouard Herriot replied in forceful terms today to President Hoover's speech of acceptance and Secretary of State Stimson's address on the Kellogg-Briand peace pact.

At the opening of the Moselle canal he declared that while France was on the side of peace she must be forever vigilant because she still was confronted with "appeals to violence" and "eulogies of war."

"We hear the voices of friends who assure us that war has been forever exorcised," he said in reference to the American pronouncements. "We would like to believe them and without delay associate ourselves with their optimism."

It is easier to conceive in a country practically inviolate than on this soil so often torn up. Despite the solemn engagements, despite the Kellogg-Briand pact, which Secretary Stimson recently commented on in such elevated terms, we perceive also appeals to violence and eulogies of war which we should be able to think had been stilled forever.

"People of wisdom are both pacific and vigilant. President Hoover insisted on the necessity of maintaining the works of peace, anxious to participate in all sincere efforts, but guaranteed against any impediment by the cruel memory of the past, all France models herself on a city which preserves its soul which has not ceased to furnish an example of independence in dignity."

"Firm in her wish to develop all the works of peace, anxious to participate in all sincere efforts, but guaranteed against any impediment by the cruel memory of the past, all France models herself on a city which preserves its soul which has not ceased to furnish an example of independence in dignity."

New Mexico Officer Kidnaped and Slain

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 14.—(AP)—A routine assignment to check the ownership of a motorcar in a farmyard near Carlsbad, N. M., led to the kidnapping and slaying of Deputy Sheriff Joe Johns today. The cause was a mystery.

Police here received a report tonight that a body of the slain Carlsbad officer had been found by a truck driver on a highway near Guadalupe peak, 90 miles from El Paso.

Record Attendance Is Expected At Constitution's Cooking School

A record-breaking attendance at The Constitution's free cooking school, which opens on Tuesday morning at Keith's Georgia theater and continues through Friday, is indicated in inquiries already received. A complete program has been arranged.

The first event Monday will be the organ recital given by the black-masked organist of the theater from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. Then Mrs. Frank M. Inman, Tuesday's hostess, will introduce Mrs. Kate E. Stafford, the expert lecturer who will conduct the school, demonstrating cooking, kitchen management, and household efficiency.

Wednesday's hostess will be Mrs. Frank Neely. Well known in Atlanta social and cultural activities, Mrs.

GERMANY AWAITS NEXT HITLER STEP

Possibility That Frustrated Nazi Leader May Decide on Course of Violence Perturbs Nation.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Political maneuvering to determine the composition of Germany's next government was deadlocked today as the result of President Paul von Hindenburg's dramatic refusal yesterday to invest Adolf Hitler, whose national socialist party is the strongest in the reich, with complete power.

Hitler, who left Berlin immediately after his fruitless interview with the old field marshal, remained aloof from the political arena pending a meeting Tuesday of his closest advisers.

In addition to the outstanding members of the Nazi party, the lesser leaders also will attend this meeting. These will include hundreds of Nazi members of federal, state and local parliaments.

The gathering, which will take place in Berlin, probably will last two days. Hitler is in Munich now, but he will return to Berlin.

The nation was on the brink of it knew not what, but the people accepted the potentially dangerous situation with German sturdiness. It was a sunny Sunday throughout almost all Germany and millions of persons took their ease on the beaches, dropping for the time being their political hates.

This was a new development. For several months Sundays have been bloody days, with numerous political clashes ending up long casualty lists.

The newspaper Lokal Anzeiger came forth with a report to the effect that Hitler was planning to meet with President von Hindenburg and Chancellor Franz von Papen, the national socialist leader left a loophole for a coalition government with the existing government.

On the basis of this report it was pointed out that the Nazis, the centrists and their respective allies might form a coalition government at the end of the month. Such a coalition would be able to summon 354 votes out of the 507 in the chamber.

But there was no indication that Chancellor von Papen had altered his announced plan of going before the Reichstag with his present government, and during the members to unseat him.

He carries out that plan he will defy more lightning than a summer storm. The possible opposition—including the Nazis, nationalists, socialists, centrists, Catholics and communists—totals 358 votes, leaving the government at best only 21 upholders.

Such a vote of no-confidence would be one of the most blistering repudiations ever received by any chancellor in the history of the German republic.

In the last few days there has been talk abroad about a possible Nazi march on Berlin scheduled for this Sunday. The fact that these reports were groundless was proved when harassed Berlin residents stampeded to get away from the city's almost unbearable heat.

RABBI WISE ASSAILS
HITLER ANTI-SEMITISM

GENEVA, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Jews of the world must demand destruction of the "canon of anti-Semitism," Dr. Stephen S. Wise of New York declared today in opening the world Jewish conference of 125 delegates from 25 countries.

Dr. Wise criticized the German fascists for their campaign against Jews in that nation.

"I do not believe in Hitlerism," Dr. Wise, who is honorary president of the conference, declared. "Jews believe the spirit of Schiller and Lessing more truly express the soul of Germany than Hitler and Goebbels."

"We, of 819,000 Jews, a majority of them descendants of Jewish dwellers and builders in Germany for a thousand years, will not be physically expelled from the German Reich by the full force of law and status of German citizenship."

Dr. Wise cried out against the world to speak plainly and demand that the world destroy the cancer of anti-Semitism. "Israel is more than a football at the worst, or a pet of the nations at the best."

Hoover To Divide Rest On Bay, in Mountains

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—President Hoover cruised down the Potomac tonight on his first extended vacation in 17 months, a rest to be divided between fishing in Chesapeake Bay and a stay in the mountains.

On return from the boat trip of three days the plan is to spend the rest of the week at the Rapidan camp in the Virginia Blue Ridge section. All the time he will be in touch with the White House by radio, but giving his time so much as possible to relaxation.

Roosevelt and Garner Meet Beside Highway; Texan Will Campaign Where Governor Says

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, left, and John Nance Garner exchange felicitations. These two democratic standard bearers met Sunday for the first time since they were chosen to lead the party in the November presidential election.

CANDIDATES OPEN BUSY SCHEDULES

It was their first meeting in more than two years.

Running boards of the two automobiles touched as the cars met on the narrow road, and Speaker Garner stepped into the governor's car, into a seat vacated by Curtis Dall, Roosevelt's son-in-law.

"Hello, Governor Roosevelt, you look fine," said the vice presidential nominee, who had driven from New York about 60 miles up the Hudson river.

"Hello, Jack. How is my running partner?" responded the governor.

Roosevelt replied, laughing, "It's all right. Everything's all right."

Their meeting place, on a hill called Anthony's nose, afforded a sweeping view of the green buildings and barracks of Camp Smith, named for the former New York governor and Roosevelt's principal opponent for the democratic nomination until Garner swung his votes to the Roosevelt standard.

The governor had just finished reviewing troops of the national guard. He was driven up the hill on the little blind road to meet Garner.

Women Again Go Aloft For Endurance Record

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Refreshed by a night's sleep at the airport, Mrs. Frances Harrell Marshall and Louise McPhetridge Thaden took off at 1 o'clock (eastern standard time) this afternoon in a second attempt to establish a new world's refueling endurance flight record for women.

Their first attempt to better the record of 122 hours and 20 minutes held by Bobby Trout and Edna May Cooper ended yesterday when a bucket containing their breakfast was lowered into the wing tip of the plane tearing the fabric.

The two young women passed their tenth hour aloft at 11 p. m. (eastern standard time) tonight.

Congressman Charles R. Crisp, seeking election as senator to succeed the late W. J. Harris, has arranged six speeches, one for each day of the week, in a wide swing over the state; his opponent, Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., has a schedule calling for 12 speeches.

Crisp will open the week's work at Louisville at 11 o'clock this morning. Russell has a heavier day, facing audiences at Thomasville at 11:30 o'clock, Jackson at 3:30 o'clock, and Jonesboro at 8 o'clock tonight. Crisp visits Monroe on Tuesday, Elberton on Wednesday, Gainesville on Thursday, all at 11 o'clock in the morning; Marietta at 7:30 Friday night, and Blue Ridge at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

Russell will speak at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at Lafayette, 3:30 Tuesday afternoon at Ringgold, and 3:30 Wednesday at Fayetteville. He will attend a barbecue and celebration at 3 o'clock Friday at Marietta. He will speak at 3 o'clock Friday at Marietta, 8 o'clock Friday night at Fort Valley, 3 o'clock Saturday at Dubuque, and 5:30 Saturday at Alamo.

Russell will deliver a nonpolitical speech before the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Newburg. He will speak at 3 o'clock Friday at Marietta, 8 o'clock Friday night at Fort Valley, 3 o'clock Saturday at Dubuque, and 5:30 Saturday at Alamo.

In the governor's race, John N. Holder will open the week with a speech at noon today at Clayton, and will speak at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at Ludowici, and at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Glenaville. Holder will speak at 11 o'clock Tuesday night at Washington. Hardwick will invade Tallmadge's home county, Tallair, at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

T. Hicks Fort, Columbus attorney, will speak at 8 o'clock tonight at Thomson in behalf of Crisp, and at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Fort Valley for Crisp.

MRS. ARMOR FLAYS DRS' BETRAYERS

SEATTLE, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, told by one of its convention speakers, Mrs. Mary Harris Armour of Atlanta, that "those in public life who have betrayed us will be driven out," laid plans today to prevent repeal of the dry laws.

An informal committee has met to decide upon a policy of political action to carry out the declaration of Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the organization, that both the democratic and republican planks on prohibition will be resisted "every step of the way."

The committee members are Mrs. Boole, ex-officio chairman; Mrs. Ida B. Wells Smith of Des Moines, Iowa, president of the Missouri W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Minnie Welch of Chattanooga, Tenn., president of the Tennessee W. C. T. U.; and Mrs. Armour, who is a national director of the organization.

DEAD MAN NAMED MERRILL SLAYER

NATCHEZ, Miss., Aug. 14.—(AP)—A dead negro stood accused tonight of the slaying of Miss Jane Surget Merrill, wealthy, aristocratic renee and a belle of bygone days, on the night of August 4 on her estate outside of Natchez.

Until tonight the sheriff had contended that she had been shot to death Wednesday by Pine Bluff (Ark.) officer when he resisted arrest.

The trunk held a quantity of 32-20 cartridges, similar to those dug out of the body of the Merrill home, and his clothing, the sheriff said, corresponded to a description of those worn by a man seen on the Merrill grounds shortly before the shooting. When killed at Pine Bluff, Sheriff Roberts said, the negro was armed with a 32-20 revolver and he was known to change in temper.

His switch in attitude, the sheriff explained, was due to a tip from an old negro who told him to search for evidence at the Merrill home, and his house named George Pearles, alias Lawrence Williams, who was killed Wednesday by Pine Bluff (Ark.) officers when he resisted arrest.

HOMES AND CROPS DAMAGED BY GALE OF 70-MILE FORCE

With Force Spent, Storm Moves Inland After Isolating Island City of Galveston For Period of Several Hours.

SEAWALL PROTECTS CITY FROM WATER

Extensive Damage Done In Houston While Crops Are Beaten Down Over Wide Area.

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Seventeen persons were dead, at least 50 were injured and property damage was estimated today at many thousands of dollars in the wake of a tropical storm which buffeted south Texas last night.

The list of dead and injured slowly mounted as crippled communications were repaired and rescue workers moved into the stricken area, with in a radius of 75 or 100 miles.

The storm moved slowly through south Texas in a southwest direction tonight with rapidly diminishing force, after sweeping an area near Taylor about 200 miles northwest of Houston.

Striking the Texas coast between Galveston and Freeport, 34 miles from Galveston, late yesterday, the storm raged for many hours, the wind attaining a velocity of about 70 miles an hour at Houston. From Galveston and Houston it moved north to Taylor before turning southwest.

"It is following the usual course of such disturbances," the weather bureau at Dallas reported. "It probably will blow itself out without further violence."

Sea Wall Protects City.

Protected by the great sea wall, completed yesterday night after a storm in 1900 had devastated the city, Galveston reported no great amount of damage, although a number of flimsy structures on low beaches were swept away, houses were unroofed, windows were broken and trees were uprooted.

Galveston passed the night in darkness, power having been shut off to lessen the danger of fire. About $10,000 damage was done to buildings at Fort Crockett, a port beach where early reports that the city was isolated were denied, although telegraph and telephone wires were out of commission at intervals and the mainland was clogged by motor vehicles stalled when motors were drowned out by rain.

LANCASTER JURY TO HEAR MOTHER

Parent of Slain Boy To Take Stand Today To Accuse Aviator.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 14.—(P)—Mrs. Ida Clyde Clarke will defend the memory of her son Haden, for whose slaying Captain W. N. Lancaster, British aviator, has been on trial since August 2.

Mrs. Clarke is expected to testify regarding an alleged statement of Lancaster, a few hours after Haden was fatally shot in the home of his fiancée, Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, in which the aviator was quoted as saying he did not know whether he killed Clarke or not.

Lancaster denied vehemently yesterday that he made such an assertion to the grieving mother after he and Mrs. Keith-Miller, third figure in a strange love triangle, went to Mrs. Clarke's hotel in early morning hours to tell her that her son had been mysteriously and fatally wounded. Mrs. Clarke quoted Lancaster in newspaper interviews as making the statement.

First Appearance.
It will be the mother's first appearance in the courtroom where her son, a young author, has been described by defense witnesses as a trifter with women, a narcotic and liquor addict, and a frequent contemplator of suicide in moments of morose despondency.

She will be called as a rebuttal witness for the state, the defense having closed its case yesterday by presenting highly sensational testimony concerning the lives of Clarke, who had replaced Lancaster in the woman's affections, Mrs. Keith-Miller and the defendant.

Mrs. Clarke's testimony, according to State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne, also will include attempts to impeach Lancaster's witness stand statements that the young author committed an honor suicide—what the flyer termed a "beautiful thing"—when he realized that a recurring illness would prevent his contemplated marriage to Mrs. Keith-Miller.

Request for Autopsy.
It was the mother, a professor of journalism at the University of Miami, who asked shortly after her son's burial that the body be exhumed and an autopsy performed to determine whether he had been murdered.

Interest ran high, as the trial entered its third week, in the sensationalism that has developed in the testimony of Mrs. Keith-Miller, Lancaster and other witnesses.

The skull of the dead man last week became a gruesome stage property in the trial drama. Mrs. Clarke had it brought into the courtroom in an attempt to substantiate by expert witnesses the claim that Clarke took his life in a fit of despondency.

Albert H. Hamilton, a criminologist, of Auburn, N. Y., used the skull and the pistol as he testified in the crowded courtroom that Clarke, under conditions revealed by the skull and from an autopsy report, could not have been murdered, but should be classed as a suicide.

GORDON BAPTIST GIVEN NEW ORGAN BY WILEY MOORE

A Wurlitzer pipe organ was presented to the congregation of Gordon Street Baptist church Sunday morning by Wiley L. Moore, president of the Wofford Oil Company and members of the church, and Mrs. Moore, in the presence of one of the largest attendances in the history of the church.

C. A. Cobb, editor of the Southern Rivalist, made the presentation speech in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Moore, and Assistant Solicitor-General John H. Hudson, chairman of the board of deacons, accepted the gift for the church with an appropriate speech of thanks. Mr. and Mrs. Moore were presented with a loving cup from the primary department of the Bible school by Miss Doris Thompson. Arthur Neal, organist, and Miss Myrtle Belle Durham gave a program of selections. The Rev. W. H. Faust, pastor, offered the dedicatory prayer. The Bible school, headed by B. C. Smith, superintendent, attended in a body. The weekly church paper contained a lengthy tribute to the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

RUN OVER BY TRAIN, BOY LOSES LEGS HURRYING HOME

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 14.—(P)—George Wesley Light, 13-year-old Nashville boy, was attempting to turn home before the death of his father, with whom he took a seven-week hobo trip last year, when he was run over by a train at Fort Worth, Texas, and had both legs severed.

But his father, Andrew Jackson Light, 50, died Wednesday.

The boy and his father planned another box-car journey this summer. However, three months ago the father became ill and on July 4 George started out alone.

Two weeks later, his mother, Mrs. Evie Light, said he returned for some clean clothes, "and lit out again."

His family had no communication from him after that until last Monday, a day after his father's condition became worse suddenly, when his mother received a telegram from the chief of police at Needles, Cal. The telegram said he had been picked up for hobnobbing and asked if his family wanted him returned to Nashville.

DRANE'S RECOUNT PLEA IS UPHELD BY COURT

BARTOW, Fla., Aug. 14.—(P)—Judge Harry G. Taylor has denied a motion by Mrs. J. Hardin Peterson to quash a mandamus proceedings brought by Congressman Herbert J. Drane for a recount of the congressional vote cast in six precincts in Polk county. The judge also refused to sustain a demurrer to the proceedings filed by Peterson's attorneys.

The court did sustain a motion to strike out of the writ any reference to the state canvassing board, which certified that Peterson defeated Drane in the second democratic primary for the first district congressional nomination.

STANLEY EXPLAINS LOAD-LIMIT VIEWS

W. L. Stanley, chief public relations officer of the Seaboard Air Line railway, in a letter to The Constitution Sunday, points out two instances in which he says he was misquoted in an article appearing in The Constitution of Sunday. Mr. Stanley delivered an address before the Traffic Study Club Friday night on the subject of the competition between buses and railroads. He advanced a theory that if the load limit of trucks and buses operating for hire were restricted to two tons, the railroad's problem would be solved.

The letter follows: "The Constitution reference is made to an address which I delivered on August 12 before the Traffic Study Club of Atlanta. In several particulars what I said has been misquoted: For instance, the article reports me as saying, 'The railroads do not wish the short hauls.' I did suggest that if reasonable gross weight limit was prescribed for all vehicles that this restriction would not interfere with the truck for hire hauling profitably a medium load for short distances but would automatically prevent freight operations for long distances where enormous tonnage must be handled in order to make the undertaking profitable. As a matter of fact the railroads desire to be put in a position where they can compete on a fair basis for all traffic, whether moving for short or long distances."

"I am quoted as having said that the 'ad valorem taxes paid by the railroads in 1931 amounted to $1,380,139.02, while taxes from all types of motor vehicles only paid the state $32,078.64 for the cause of education.' What I really said was that the railroads of Georgia in 1931 paid in ad valorem taxes alone $3,874,543.33 and that, based upon an estimate which I made, and detailed in my address as to the gas tax paid by motor vehicles for hire such vehicles contributed to the cause of education in Georgia through this specific tax $32,078.64, while the railroads paid in ad valorem taxes for this purpose in 1931 $1,380,139.02. My entire address related solely to motor vehicles for hire operated under the jurisdiction of the Georgia public service commission."

"As the matter of motor vehicle competition for hire with railroads is of such vital public interest, I think that great care should be exercised by those who may speak or write upon this subject to see that basic facts are correctly given and reasons for conclusions assigned. For this reason alone I am asking if you will not be good enough to make the corrections indicated in your report of what I said upon this subject."

Soviet Army Orders Deflate War Threats

MOSCOW, Aug. 14.—(P)—A refutation of reports soviet Russia was launching a concerted military mobilization in expectation of a clash with Japan was seen today in the customary summer orders issued by the revolutionary war council.

The usual indefinite furloughs were granted to three classes of troops and routes entering the presiding age for compulsory military service were called to the colors.

While troop concentrations in far eastern Siberia have been "reorganized" as a precautionary defense measure, the fact that the usual procedure has been followed this year with respect to the army apparently quashes reports published abroad that Russia was engaged in furious preparations for war.

Women's Ranks Split At Geneva Session

GENEVA, Aug. 14.—(P)—A split occurred last night in the committee representing leading women's organizations called into consultation by the League of Nations regarding the Hague convention on nationality of women.

One section led by Alice Paul, of Washington, D. C., representing the Inter-American Commission of Women, and Mrs. Lora M. Lloyd, of Chicago, a member of the Women's International League, offered an amendment to take action by submitting to the government a new convention based on complete equality.

Half the committee, led by Chrystal MacMillan, of London, walked out, saying that was going too far. The two sections will present separate reports.

6 BIG ARMY PLANES HALT HERE FOR FUEL

Six army planes of the 38th division aviation corps, national guard of Indiana, landed at Candler Field Sunday afternoon, and remained on the ground more than an hour while refueling. The ships took off from Savannah Sunday morning, after taking part in the dedication of the new Emmet Wilson highway from Savannah to the Savannah airport Saturday.

5,000 Florida 'Gators To Become Boys' Pets

ARCADIA, Fla., Aug. 14.—(P)—Five thousand baby alligators from the swamps and streams of this section are going for a ride.

George K. End, of Arcadia, has accepted a contract from a national boys' magazine to supply the saurians. The magazine will send them to boys as pets.

End offered local hunters 20 cents each for the alligators and said he was assured by local residents that he would have no difficulty in getting the 5,000. He will ship them by mail in specially constructed and ventilated boxes.

Indiana Assembly Votes Parimutuels

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 14.—(P)—The parimutuel system of betting on racing contests was approved by the Indiana general assembly Saturday.

The senate passed it with just enough votes, 26 to 20. Having already passed the house, it now goes to the governor for his approval or veto.

The measure provides that the system may be used at all county and state fairs as well as at racing contests conducted under the auspices of individuals or corporations.

The state will, if the bill becomes a law, collect $100 a day license fee where the parimutuel system is operated and will get 10 per cent of the gate receipts and 30 per cent of the profits of the operator. The operator automatically deducts 10 per cent of the amount wagered.

U. S. WILL MAP DISPUTED AREA

Aerial Survey To Be Made of Guatemala-Honduras Boundary.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(P)—The United States has taken another step in Central American cooperation with an agreement by the war department to prepare an aerial map of the disputed Guatemala-Honduras boundary for the arbitration commission headed by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, of the United States supreme court.

This old controversy, which for years kept Central American diplomacy in a ferment, is drawing to its final conclusion. Several months ago commissions from each country finished their arguments before a neutral arbitration tribunal, composed of Dr. Emilio Bello Codecido, of Chile; Dr. Luis Castro Urena, of Costa Rica, and Mr. Hughes. Both countries have agreed by treaty to accept the commission's boundary findings as final.

War department officials said the aerial men would probably be sent down from the Panama Canal zone. The neutral commission asked the war department for a photographic plane, with a pilot, photographer and mechanic, to make an aerial survey and map during August.

SUCCESS CLAIMED FOR FARM STRIKE

Iowa Farmers Picket Roads To Keep Produce From Market.

LE MAHS, Iowa, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Armed deputies rode produce trucks into this western Iowa town today as the midwest farm strike entered its second week.

The strike, sponsored by Milo Reno, president of the Iowa Farmers' Union, has met with its most popular support in marketing centers.

All highways leading to the city are being picketed by the embattled farmers bent upon boosting prices by withholding produce from the market. Numerous trucks have been halted and forced to return to farms with their produce.

Reno today termed the strike a success. He claims that already farmers of western Iowa are being offered better prices and credits a 10-cent advance in hog values to the movement.

For years one of the dominating figures in the National Farmers' Union, one of the three major farm organizations, Reno began agitation for the strike in western Iowa as far back as the 1931 drought when farmers suffered severe losses.

It was in a holiday on selling only, with the farmers to make their usual purchases during the 30 days the plan is to be in force.

The aid of committees obtained in determining what they considered the cost of production for farm crops in midwestern states, Reno conceded that production costs varied in different states, but said that in all cases costs are much above current prices.

M. F. Briscoe, of Clute, near Freeport, Edward Lon Hudgins, 6 son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam P. Hudgins, of Oyster Creek.

Unidentified Mexican baby. At Brazoria: Martha Morris, negro. At Houston: S. E. Blevins, of West Columbia, Texas; Ruby Sear, of Angleton; L. L. Reese Sr., a carpenter, and a fisherman known as "Cap," who lived near Houston.

Physicians had little hope for the recovery of five of the injured, Mrs. W. M. Graham, Mrs. T. E. Bennett, and Mrs. Claude Pells, all living near Freeport, and William Dickson, husband of the dead woman, both of Angleton.

Struck in Sickness. Baggett was struck by flying timber and killed as he lay on his back. The less seriously injured included: Mrs. Rosa Baggett and her three-month-old daughter, Johnnie May. Mrs. Otis Johnson, 22.

Thomas Luna, Mrs. Luna and five children. Katherine Luna, 16. Margaret Tasso. Doris Garrison, 10. Jack Smith, a negro.

The Angleton injured were treated in a hastily improvised first aid station, a partially wrecked residence. Old quills of the storm came to light.

Saved by Visit. Hazel Suggs, 17, of West Columbia, visited the home of another girl and remained there alone after its occupants had fled in terror. This morning she learned of the death of her parents, her grandmother and sister.

Ira Bell and his family lived just a little distance from the Suggs home. Bell, his wife and four members of the Crocker family, J. W. Frank, Bob and Pauline Crocker, were together.

The hurricane dashed the house to the ground and the six occupants were caught between the roof and the walls, but all were saved. Bell tossed off the timber that imprisoned him and pulled the others from beneath. They stepped, then, to stand by slinging to protruding timbers, but were forced to lay flat on the floor.

"We prayed to Almighty God," said Bell. "We prayed and I know He heard us because He spared our lives."

Damage in Houston. In Houston, small houses were demolished and the houses of the wealthy were torn up by the roots and windows were smashed. Debris littered the streets.

The small towns of Freeport and Angleton, the former on the gulf and the latter farther inland, reported heavy damage. The mayor of Freeport appealed for national guardsmen to protect property and also asked for Red Cross assistance.

Extent of damage at Freeport and other small towns in the area were not learned immediately because of difficulty of communication, both by wire and over roads, the latter of which were littered with debris and were heavy with mud.

Concern for the safety of several thousand national guardsmen training at Palacios, near the gulf, was relieved by a message from Major General John A. Huelo to Adjutant General W. W. Sterling in Austin that "all personnel and property" at the camp were "safe and sound."

Hundreds of dollars damage was caused at Elgin, Texas, where sheds were blown down and the grandstand at a baseball park was demolished, the top being blown across a highway. Many miles of fencing were leveled.

Air Service Disrupted. Service on American Airways routes between north and south Texas was disrupted. That on the Houston-Atlanta route also was stopped temporarily. The westbound plane from Atlanta halted last night at Beaumont and returned east from there today. Mail being sent to it from Houston by motor car.

Service on all American Highways lines in Texas, however, was resumed this afternoon. Rice, corn and cotton crops were damaged greatly. Wharton, Texas.

St. Louis March Begun By 'Blue Shirt Army'

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Rev. James R. Cox, founder and presidential candidate of the jobless party, today led the main body of his "Blue Shirt Army" toward the jobless-liberty convention in St. Louis.

There was no ceremony as the 200 automobiles and trucks rolled away with about 500 men, women and a few children, most of them wearing the overseas cap and blue shirt of their "army."

Communists distributed literature through the motorcade just before the starting signal was given, but these pamphlets were torn to bits by the "blue shirts."

Probably 100 automobiles followed the main body an hour later and others are expected to take up the trail tonight and tomorrow.

12 PERSONS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Twelve persons were injured in three automobile accidents in the city and vicinity today.

The first accident occurred in Fulton, where a car driven by J. W. Farmer, of 640 Holderness street, at the intersection of Argonne avenue and Ninth street, was struck by a car driven by Ralph Goodwin, 949 Ripley street, colliding with the machine driven by W. W. Farmer, of 640 Holderness street, at the intersection of Argonne avenue and Ninth street.

SWANSON EXCORIATES HOOVER TARIFF STAND

Conditions of Last 2 Years Largely Due to Smoot- Hawley Bill, Charge.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Senator Swanson, of Oregon, today attacked President Hoover's tariff stand. Swanson is chairman of the democratic senatorial campaign committee. His statement was issued through the democratic national committee.

"The president's statement," Swanson said, "indicates that the public tariff is returned in power the provisions of the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill will not only not be reduced, but its exorbitant rates increased."

"All thoughtful persons must realize that the deplorable financial and industrial conditions of the United States and in the world have been largely produced by the provisions of the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill which occasioned retaliatory tariff all over the world. The passage of this bill brought retaliatory measures from other countries and has practically closed the markets of the world to American products."

Swanson said that the bill was a "disaster" and that it was "the cause of the present economic crisis." He said that the bill was "the cause of the present economic crisis" and that it was "the cause of the present economic crisis."

Probe of Recluse's Murder Bares Incredible Details

Dana Played Piano at Golf Club Short Time Before Killing.

NATCHEZ, Miss., Aug. 14.—(NANA)—Richard Dana, one-time pianist, and cousin of the late Charles A. Dana, of the New York Sun, who was shot dead by a bullet fired from a pistol held by a man named "Goat" Merrill, today played the piano at the Auburn Golf Club in Dunbar, Ark., where he was shot.

For Miss Merrill owned a pistol from which those bullets may have been fired, and she frequently carried it in her handbag when she came into Natchez, driving the ancient light automobile which never stopped for a red light.

Moreover, the 68-year-old aristocrat, whose mysterious death by shooting galvanized this peaceful city, was herself a crack shot. So well and so often did she shoot that one of the negroes who reported having heard shots from the Merrill estate, on the night of the shooting, said that he did not report them to the police at once, because when he suggested doing so his wife laughed at him, reminding him, "It's probably only a child killing another one of Dana's goats."

And since it was well known that "Miss Jennie" was in the habit of shooting at the animals that strayed over the "Goat Mansion" where Dana and Miss Dockery lived among the livestock, her death went undiscovered for more than an hour.

Her .22 calibre rifle was found in her home, but her little revolver was not found, and has not been found, though authorities have been combing the countryside for a week.

"But she had a revolver," insisted E. C. Boyd, garage mechanic. "I've seen it in her handbag fifty times, when she opened the bag to her business. I made out her rattling little car. It was a bit of a gun, and looked to me like a .32 calibre pistol. I never asked her about it. Of course, one day she asked me to look at her car. If you'd known her the way we knew her, you wouldn't wonder."

SCIENTIST OF FLORIDA SCOFFS AT MUMMIES

Says Indian Springs Exhibit Does Not Convince Him of Petrification.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 14.—(AP)—A Florida scientist today visited Indian Springs to see the forms of two strange figures unearthed there last week, but said he was denied a careful examination of them.

The bodies might easily be "figures," commented Dr. Raymond Bellamy, head of the department of sociology and anthropology in the Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee, after his visit.

"I have seen what figures more like than those. Of course, I was not able to take any scientific measurements and I would not speak with authority because of that, but my impression is that the thing is a fake," he said.

Dr. Bellamy said the owner of the bodies would not open the glass case in which he is exhibiting them in his home for an admission price of 10 cents. The forms—one of a woman and the other of a child clasped in her arms—were dug up Friday morning on a farm not far from Indian Springs. It was believed they might have been bodies of Indians, or those of an even earlier race.

Dr. Bellamy said he believes the bodies could not possibly be petrified, as far as he knows, human flesh has never been petrified by a fossil. Professor Smith saw the bodies

CITY ACTS TO GET HOME LOAN BANK

Horace Russell in Washington To Press Atlanta Claim for Branch.

As part of an intensive campaign by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and the local building and loan interests, Horace Russell, former president of the chamber and a prominent building and loan man, has gone to Washington to confer with members of the new federal home loan bank system directorate in the hope of obtaining a branch bank for this city. Frank Shaw, secretary of the chamber's industrial bureau, announced Sunday.

Atlantans are doing everything possible to attract the favorable attention of the home loan bank directors to this section, and a hearing before the board will be requested, Shaw said. Russell will confer with Morton Bodfish, executive manager of the United States Building & Loan League, and William E. Best, members of the new board, who are his personal friends, Shaw said.

George W. West and Joseph T. Reine recently visited Washington and talked to Dr. John Gries, economist and member of the board, Shaw said. Surveys of Atlanta have been sent to the board, and a formal request for a branch bank has been made, Shaw added.

Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the home loan bank system, Sunday said in Washington that no cities will be considered as branch bank centers until banking districts have been definitely outlined and that a number of vital legal questions will have to be satisfactorily answered before any major step can be taken to launch banking operations. "The set-up of the farm loan bureau is very similar to that which we hope to perfect," Fort said.

Fort said that thousands of letters and wires have reached the board asking for special consideration for various cities, but, not having permanent quarters yet and lacking adequate clerical help, it has been impossible to acquaint the board members with details of the requests.

Advices from Washington were that there is strong suspicion that politicians and their friends will be prominent in the minds of those organizing the banking system. It is understood that the White House does not look for the system to be going at full speed for three or four months, which means until after the fall elections, it was said.

A delegation of officials of the Georgia Building & Loan League will attend the annual convention of the United States Building & Loan League at French Lick, Ind., next month, following which plans for obtaining for Georgia investors and home owners the benefits of the new home loan bank system will be placed in operation, Russell said.

An increase of more than $100,000 in assets of building and loan associations in Georgia during the last six months was reported by John P. Wilson, secretary of the state. This sum brings the total assets to more than $7,000,000, according to Russell. The extent to which Georgia associations can participate in the federal funds will be governed by the amount of money they have in loans on homes.

Paraguayan Leader Says War Is 'Absurd'

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Aug. 14.—(AP)—President-elect Eusebio Ayala told the Associated Press today that even though he considered war over the Gran Chaco region an "absurdity," Paraguay would not capitulate to Bolivia without a struggle.

As proof of a pacific spirit, however, he pledged that his first act on assuming office tomorrow would be to ask the chamber of deputies to ratify the "unreserved" conciliation treaty signed in Washington in 1929 and Paraguay's adherence to the world court.

"I consider war between Paraguay and Bolivia an absurdity," he declared in an interview on the eve of his inauguration, "for during my long career I have been an ardent defender of arbitration and other legal methods as the only reasonable road to the settlement of the conflict."

11 CUBAN REFUGEES AWAIT U. S. DECISION

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Eleven Cuban political refugees brought here in custody of coast guardsmen after a rescue from their sinking schooner south of Miami, today awaited decision from immigration authorities in Washington as to their status.

Members of the group, headed by Pedro Diaz, were technically barred from the United States as aliens in a hearing here yesterday.

Frank, Open Stand on Dry Law Is Demanded by Mayor Key

"Thimble-rigging politicians who ask for places of leadership without telling the voters where they intend to lead" were lashed by Mayor James L. Key Sunday morning in a prelude of comment on current events before his regular Bible lecture to the Key Bible class meeting in the Georgia theater.

Mayor Key ridiculed the candidates who "agree to submit the prohibition question to a vote of the people," asserting it to be the candidate's responsibility to tell the people where he stands and to make a frank and open fight for one side or the other. He accused President Hoover of deserting the people who elected him when in his acceptance speech he disavowed the prohibition cause.

The people are tired of the sham and hypocrisy that has surrounded the prohibition issue, Mayor Key declared. "In times like these we want frankness, honesty and courage and will regret and repudiate efforts of

How often you've heard that advice given. Then why not try it yourself?

You read every day in the newspapers of horrible traffic accidents that leave death and suffering in their wake. You know the accident wave is growing everywhere. You know you cannot avoid accidents. The other driver threatens you.

Then why not insure your own income against abrupt halt and your family against financial ruin if you should fall victim to the scourge? You can do it cheaply and efficiently.

The Constitution offers you and all of its readers the famous $10,000 travel accident policy issued by the National Urban League Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago. This company has already paid over $150,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders, and the price is only $1 per week. A fee per year per policy—just about 2 cents a week.

The policy provides for payments of sums ranging downward from $10,000 in case of death resulting from certain specific accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10,000 for indemnity for total disability resulting from accidents set forth in the policy.

NATIONAL URBAN LEAGUE WEEKLY BULLETIN

BY JESSE O. THOMAS
An interesting nationwide study is now being made by Dr. Charles S. Johnson, director of the social science department of Fisk University, on the negro college graduates. It is the aim and effort of this study to tabulate the present status of these graduates as to some of the following:

1. Present earnings.
2. Length of time to secure desired occupation.
3. Status of the graduates' family, as to education of his parents, number of children, whether married or not, number of children.
4. Property owned.
5. Contributions made in writings.
6. Methods resorted to in order to secure desired occupation.
7. Whether he or she is in desired occupation.

8. Consideration of whether his college training has been a handicap.
9. Extent it was a handicap.
10. Recommendations on what should be included in college programs to make college education more helpful, and many other interesting questions.

The results of this study should be far reaching and bring to light a large amount of extremely valuable data in regard to family life and standards among negro college graduates. This study will have much significance on the future methods on negro college courses and programs. It will enable them to better adapt their work to the needs of the negro who is preparing himself for a career.

Dr. Johnson has a number of assistants working with him on this study in an endeavor to reach every possible graduate in the country. The questionnaire is very exhaustive as to the amount and angles of information desired. The assistants working on the study are specially trained persons and in an effort to secure the greatest degree of co-operation and accuracy, they assist many in preparing their questionnaires.

A large number of people are co-operating on this study and when completed will be the first exhaustive study on the life of the negro college graduate. Two other studies preceded this one, in 1902 and in 1910, made by Dr. W. E. B. Dubois, when he was a professor at Atlanta university. At that time there were only about 1,613 negro college graduates, and the study was not on as extensive a scale as this one. Today there are about 18,000 negro college graduates.

It was Dr. Dubois' desire to see a third study made of this type and it is interesting to note he has been able to not only see this dream come true, but also to co-operate in the third study.

Rebellion on Wages Looms in Mine Area
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 14.—(AP) Rebellion increased today against the miners $5 basic wage agreement as union members massed in meetings protesting the scale and threats of a statewide strike were made by dissenting miners.

Already 3,000 members of the Springfield sub-district have voted for a strike, following similar action by miners at Belleville.

The rebel forces met today at Bend to map a plan of action. Other protesters were held over the state and several union men advocated a march on Taylorville, where 2,000 men returned to work under the new agreement.

Petitions were being circulated here as the insurrection spread asking for a state convention of union men to consider the wage situation anew.

ALLEGED INTRUDER IS SLAIN BY WOMAN
HOPEWELL, Va., Aug. 14.—(AP)—John Rybar Jr., 21, was shot and instantly killed last night by Mrs. Torsten Peterson, who told police the young man was attempting to enter her home.

She said she was alone with her children when she was awakened by a noise at her window. The woman said she fired a pistol bullet through the window.

Mrs. Peterson was placed under $500 bond for her appearance at a hearing before Trial Justice Francis Binford at Prince George courthouse tomorrow.

TAX PROPOSALS FACE ALABAMA LEGISLATURE
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Two tax proposals, one for an income tax and the other for a sales tax, will come before the Alabama legislature when it convenes in September.

GLOVES AND VEILS FEATURE CHANGES IN STYLES OF FALL

BY JANE EADS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Velvet and fur-trimmed gloves, scarves with silver and gold discs, scarves with metal ends, and evening gowns made of broadcloth are among the unique newcomers to the 1932 fashion fold.

The gloves, usually of black or bright red, complement a huge bow or Ascot tie scarf and a turban worn with a costume of a contrasting fabric, or color.

A number of black doekies or suede gloves are trimmed with ermine cuffs matching a tiny high collar of ermine and a handkerchief of the same fur on the hat. One beige afternoon coat is worn with a Russian toque, muff and collar of panther and gloves cuffed with the same fur.

Besides the intriguing new veils glittering with spangles, new effects are gained by pleating or an edging of solid felt. Some have star, posie, or butterfly patterns in felt, velvet or chenille.

While velvet and fur scarfs are bound for considerable popularity this fall, the designers are looking for stripes are going to be favored for sports and daytime wear. One bright length of striped wool if stiff-edged with shiny metal. Other scarfs are caught with huge horse blanket safety pins and plain wide bar pins.

The dignity and svelt beauty of broadcloth have caught the fancy of designers looking for something new in the way of elegance in evening gowns.

Fashioned in rich dark red tones, black, or white, in form-fitting gowns, the most striking simplicity, little trimming is necessary. There is something flawless about the fabric itself which prohibits the use of ornaments other than a bit of ermine or a simply designed jeweled buckle or clip.

CERTAIN TO CARRY NINETY COUNTIES, KELLEY DECLARES

Returning from an intensive campaign tour where he has made speeches in 15 counties, John I. Kelley, candidate for governor, after reviewing the situation developed by correspondence, newspaper reports, personal contacts, Sunday gave out the following statement:

"With regard to the gubernatorial campaign, I feel extremely confident that I will carry no less than 90 counties in the primary of September 14. Everywhere I have been I have been greeted with enthusiastic audiences and there is no question but that in the addresses I have made the audiences have been almost unanimously with me and the organizations have followed by addresses indicate that the people are looking upon me as being the strongest candidate to restore our government to the hands of the people and to drive out corruption from our political life. Any person who goes over the state and is impressed with the fact that there is such a demand for me to speak in numerous sections of the state, I have every reason to believe that if the tide which is rising in the state continues unabated, I will be nominated in the first primary."

"The people are looking for a man who is sane and dependable, who is without political or business affiliations that would make it impossible for him to serve the masses of the people, rather than a special interest. A survey of the field has convinced the public that no other real contender in this campaign occupies that position except myself. This accounts for the fact that there is such a demand for me to speak in numerous sections of the state. I have every reason to believe that if the tide which is rising in the state continues unabated, I will be nominated in the first primary."

WALL HEADQUARTERS OPEN HERE THIS WEEK
Announcement is made by R. J. Davidson, campaign manager for J. Edgar Wall, of Eatonton, Ga., representative from Putnam county, and a candidate for commissioner of agriculture, that campaign headquarters will be opened in the Ansley hotel this week for the purpose of facilitating the direction of the county organizations working in Mr. Wall's behalf throughout the state. Campaign headquarters also have been opened in Eatonton and in Milledgeville, the home and birthplace, respectively, of Mr. Wall, these headquarters being directed and operated by his friends in Putnam and Baldwin counties as a measure of their esteem and pride.

Mr. Davidson states that Mr. Wall has been in 82 counties in the state, in all of which he has met with an enthusiastic endorsement of his back-to-the-farm and farm relief program which insures his election. He plans to invade every county in the state and lay before the people his plan, which, when put into operation, will prove the most beneficial act of a generation, and which has already been proven practical by his own application.

Governor B. M. Miller has advocated an income tax as the best financial measure while several legislators are known to favor a sales tax. Reduction of salaries and state appropriations also is scheduled for action, with some legislators calling for a horizontal 25 per cent slash in expenditures to balance the budget.

HEATED DEBATES SEEN IN COUNCIL

Controversial Matters Will Be Considered At Session Today.

Atlanta's city council this afternoon faces a busy session with the probability that several heated debates will feature consideration of several of the proposals.

Another item of a budget commission probably will be before council as a result of its presentation to the finance committee by Alderman G. Everett Milliken when the committee meets at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. The plan is to have a commission composed of the mayor, comptroller, chairman of the finance committee and the senior tax assessor, Alderman Alvin L. Richards is supporting the move.

Milliken will be the center of another fight when he attempts to override an adverse report of the sanitary committee on a repealing ordinance designed to nullify provisions of a recently enacted milk bottle ordinance. The sanitary committee recommends continuance of the ordinance until December 31 in order to give it a "fair trial."

Another Milliken measure will importune the Georgia legislature to empower Georgia cities to handle liquor cases, trying them in recorders' courts and diverting cases to city officers. He estimates that between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 a year could be added to Atlanta receipts through such a plan.

Councilman H. Parks Rusk, of the 13th ward, will seek to force passage of an ordinance barring married women whose husbands are gainfully employed, from jobs with the city government. The ordinance committee will present an adverse report on the bill.

Ordinances affecting licensing of plumbers and the peddling of coal will be before council with favorable reports of the ordinance committee.

Councilman Joseph E. Berman, chairman of the aviation committee, will seek $1,300 for erection of a hangar at Tech High school in order to have Tech High accredited as an aviation ground school, the first high school so honored in the entire south-east.

Unpicked Cotton Lowers in Grade

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Exposure of cotton in the field after the boll first open rapidly lowers its grade, the United States department of agriculture has found after a series of color tests.

Although every cotton farmer knows that exposure lowers the grade of unpicked cotton, these tests indicate just how rapidly this lowering of grade takes place.

Newly opened bolls were tagged in a South Carolina cotton field. Cotton was picked from some each day for a long period and tested for change in color. During the first two weeks all samples picked graded strict good or good middling, white or spotted. The last sample to grade in the white grades was picked on the eighteenth day after tagging. From that time on the samples graded progressively through good middling spotted, good middling gray, strict middling spotted, strict middling blue, strict low and low middling spotted, and finally became so low in color that they could not be graded at all by the official color standards.

When the governor approached for the review of troops in the afternoon, the band played the navy song, "Anchors Aweigh." During the ceremony it played "Happy Days Are Here Again"—informally selected as the Roosevelt campaign song—and the United States marine song.

Motor to Hyde Park. Roosevelt and Garner later motored to Hyde Park for dinner. They continued on to Albany afterwards. Garner said he could not say anything about his campaign plans until after he had talked procedure with the presidential nominee.

For the movie sound reels, taken at Hyde Park, Garner said: "Governor Roosevelt, I came here to get orders from my boss. When you give them to me, I'll carry them out."

When Roosevelt, also talking for the sound movies, said, "This looks like a pretty good team, the speaker replied, "Not a bad team at all, especially for the American people."

Asked by newspapermen if he intended to make an extensive campaign, Mr. Garner said: "Well, we'll know better after the governor and I talk. It's like a zoo, though: the people want to see the animals. They want to see who this animal is that's running with the governor."

It was understood that Garner was in favor of his taking the stump about the middle of September, at the time Mr. Roosevelt starts for California. The chief topic before the candidates was the consideration of what sections of the country each will stump.

Mr. Roosevelt in his speech at Peekskill only referred briefly to the campaign, and then as a courtesy to his running mate, he said: "This is the first time Peekskill has had the honor of having as its guest the speaker of the house of representatives. Forgive me if I express the hope for a very personal reason that Speaker Garner will be our guest many times in the next four years."

POLK ACCEPTS POSITION IN LEAGUE FOR ROOSEVELT
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Frank L. Polk, undersecretary of state in the Wilson administration, has accepted a vice presidency of the Roosevelt Business and Professional League, announced today.

Three state chairmen of the league, organized to work for the presidential election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, were announced: John Stewart Bryan, editor of the Richmond News Leader, Virginia; Elwood Hamilton, Louisville attorney, Kentucky; and David E. Hill, Rapid City furniture merchant, Michigan.

Rear Admiral William Buel Franklin, who retired last January as commander of the New York naval militia, will be a liaison officer between state chairmen and New York headquarters.

Hoover Praises Cardinal Gibbons In Accepting Statue on U. S. Behalf

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—President James Cardinal Gibbons as one "who won the personal affection of thousands of Americans of every race and creed," President Hoover today accepted on behalf of the government a statue of the Catholic prelate.

With impressive ceremonies, the statue, located in a small park in front of the handsome white Church of the Sacred Heart on 16th street, was tendered to the government by Martin H. Carmody, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus.

Another speaker was the Right Reverend John M. McNamara, auxiliary bishop of Baltimore, the diocese over which Cardinal Gibbons presided for many years. The Most Reverend Rector Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate, blessed the statue.

"During the great war and afterwards I came often into personal association with Cardinal Gibbons in the organization of relief work for the destitute of Europe and in the development of our own government war agencies after we joined in the conflict."

"I came to know him, not only as a great leader in his faith but also as a man devoted to the widest of humanitarian and an American of burning patriotism. I can therefore join this ceremony not alone in my official capacity accepting this memorial which will beautify the city of Washington, but in appreciation of him as a man and as a citizen."

"In his lifetime Cardinal Gibbons won the personal affection of thousands of Americans of every race and of every creed. Millions more, who knew him only through his writings and his public career, shared in his affectionate regard. He stood upon

Miss Nash Weds Dr. Chitwood, Of Fort Payne, Ala., at Home

The marriage of Miss Martha Ann Nash and Dr. Orvis Hugh Chitwood, of Fort Payne, Ala., was quietly solemnized yesterday at high noon in the presence of a few friends and relatives. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Samuel S. Daugherty at the home of the bride's aunt, Misses Nell McCorkle and Bess McCorkle on St. Charles avenue. The home was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers. The bride's table was marked by a three-tiered wedding cake and an overhanging wedding bell. Garden flowers were arranged around the edge of the table. An improvised altar was formed before the stone fireplace in the living room. Ferns and palms were arranged in a semi-circular candelabra on either side. In the center of the altar was a white satin-covered prie-dieu.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. A. L. Slaton played several selections, including "At Dawning," "Liebestraum," "I Love You Truly," and "On Promise Me." The bride and groom entered to the strains of Schubert's "Serenade" as softly played.

Mrs. J. H. Beasley, sister of the bride and matron of honor, entered first, wearing peach tinted dress and a light blue and white ruffled skirt. Her slippers were green satin and she wore peach colored lace mitts. She wore a double shoulder bouquet of Ophelia roses and swainsonia.

Miss Gene Mason, maid of honor, wore a gown of green point d'esprit with a light blue and white ruffled skirt. Her slippers were peach satin and her mitts were of peach satin and her mitts were of peach satin.

Ga. Summer School Closes 30th Session.

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 14.—With the close of the nine-week session of the University of Georgia Summer school Friday evening, instructional work on the campus ceased until the opening of the fall session in September. Graduation exercises marking the close of the 30th annual session were held in the chapel Friday evening. John T. Boileau, prominent Georgia journalist, delivered the baccalaureate address. Degrees were conferred upon a class of 80 members by President S. V. Sanford. A special musical program was arranged for the occasion.

Claude Chance, associate professor of romance languages, and F. W. Powell, assistant professor of English, leave Sunday for a boat trip to New York city.

Mrs. Margaret H. Blair, assistant professor of clothing and costume design in the college of education, returned Saturday from New York city, where she attended special lectures in Columbia University. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Agnes Ellen Harris, dean of women at the University of Alabama, who will be her guest for a few days.

Dr. E. P. Brooks, dean of the school of commerce, and Mrs. Brooks have returned from Tangierwood, N. C., where they were guests in the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hodgson, of Athens.

E. A. Lowe, director of the department of public relations, and Mrs. Lowe announce the birth of a son Sunday, August 7, who has been named Homer Alexander.

Dr. W. D. Hooper, professor of Latin and secretary of the university faculty, and Mrs. Hooper have returned from Lakewood, where they visited Mrs. W. D. Hooper Jr. in the home of Judge Ernest Court, of Atlanta.

Professor G. D. Markworth, head of the forestry division, and his family have moved into their new home on Millidge circle.

Austin Edwards Jr., son of the head of the department of experimental psychology, who has been seriously ill, is much improved.

H. J. Stegman, dean of men and director of athletics at the university, who with his family is spending the summer at Camp Osceola, Highland, N. C., was in Athens on business this week.

Maple Grove No. 86 Holds Meeting.

Maple Grove No. 86, Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, met Thursday evening in the hall at the Masonic temple in West End and opened with the officers' drill, presented by officers and the Dora Alexander Talley Guards. The flag drill by the United States presented by Mrs. Mary Anglin, the attendant, Mrs. A. B. Pann was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Clara B. Cassidy, national director of the society and state director of Georgia, is attending the national fraternal congress which is being held in Washington, D. C., and will attend the meeting of the directors of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle to be held immediately after the fraternal congress at Atlantic City, N. J.

The telephone meeting will be held Wednesday, August 17, at the home of Mrs. L. M. Lanier, 572 Wood street, in West End. Luncheon will be served at 4 o'clock and members are urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Hosts at House Party.

TENNILLE, Ga., Aug. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Griffin, of Atlanta, and their children, Bobbie, Charles, and John Holder Smith, are attending a house party this week at Sea Island beach, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Griffin, of Atlanta. The gathering is a reunion of the family of Mr. and Mrs. John Holder, of Jefferson. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Griffin and their children, Mrs. Katherine Griffin, members of the Holder family group attending, include Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Mobley and son, of Milledale, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Aderhold and son, of Atlanta.

Miss Brake Weds L. B. Ham Jr.

Centering wide-spread interest is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Alvida Brake, attractive daughter of Mrs. Julia Mell Brake and the late G. B. Brake, of Atlanta, to L. B. Ham Jr., son of Mrs. L. B. Ham, of Atlanta, which was solemnized Monday evening, August 14, at 8 o'clock, at the home of J. B. Gresham, pastor of Mt. Vernon Methodist church, who performed the ceremony in the presence of a few close friends and the bridegroom's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ham are at home to their friends on the Marietta road.

Record Claimed.

QUETTA, Baluchistan, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Captain T. Yates, driving a 6,803 miles in 33 days. He started on July 9 in an automobile in an effort to beat the 6,800 miles from London to Bombay. Many delays frustrated his effort to beat the ship and he was forced to abandon the venture.

ting South, and Lightner, North, bid the hand against the other half of the Hepburn-Werner team.

The many friends of Mrs. Lester Crane will be sorry to learn that this splendid contract player has left our midst to return to her home in Miami. Mrs. Crane made a good showing in tournament play during her visit here and was especially strong in team-of-four matches.

Another charming visitor, is the person of Mrs. J. B. Suttles, is about ready to take wing for her home in St. Louis. It might be all for the best as this fine tournament player has such a good score in the Cavendish Club tournament that she might be exceedingly dangerous to some of the local club should she remain to give battle in the remaining competitions.

The Bridge Club standings follow: Henry Grady Jr., 12; Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, 10; Mrs. J. B. Suttles, 9; Sidney Smith, 9; John T. Hardisty, 8; William Derry, 7; Mrs. Marie Parker, 7; Fred Shafer, 6; Fairfax Starbottle, 6; Whitner Cary, 6; C. Blackmon, 5; Bill Dean, 5; William Dickey, 5; Mrs. McDonald Baldwin, 4; H. P. Kniskern, 4; Mrs. Clifford Karpodis, 4; Mrs. George Black, 3; Harold Dillon, 3; S. V. Sanford, 3; Louis Regenstein, 3; Mrs. O. B. Keeler, 2; Miss Evelyn Fain, 2; Joe David, 2, and Mrs. J. T. Daniel, 1.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Masters of Bridge

In these troubled times, those who have heavy interests in Wall Street might not be expected to have much time to devote to the play of bridge. However, it is true that some of the leading operators and authorities on investments spend much of their leisure at the contract table.

Mr. Walter Beinecke, president of John C. Paige & Company, during the day spends much of his time watching the slugging and flow of the prices on leading stocks as they are reported on the ticker. However, outside the business day is over, he likes to go to the Whist Club, of which he is a member of the board of governors and vice president, as well as a member of the committee on laws, to engage in a few friendly rubbers. His weakest point as a player is optimistic overbidding. His strongest point is the deadly accuracy of his play.

The hand below, played by him at a contract of seven no trump, is a brilliant example of the manner in which the expert should be dealing with meticulously correct play. Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East
2NT(1) Pass 4(2) Pass
5NT(3) Pass 7(4) Pass
7NT(5) Pass Pass Pass

(1) Mr. Beinecke's two no trump bid was not justified, although the hand contained 4-1-2 honor tricks, a bid of one diamond would have been much better. The fact that a player holds all the aces loses its significance when compared with the strategizing sets which may be encountered if played at the wrong declaration.

(2) North's bid of four spades was justified in view of partner's very strong opening bid.

(3) Again an overbid.

(4) South's bidding must account for all the aces. North's seven spade bid was justified.

(5) Deciding that he might just as well count his honors.

When West opened the heart king, Mr. Beinecke realized that he could only make his contract at no trump by the most accurate play. The next eight tricks were taken with five rounds of spades and three diamonds. The tenth trick was won with the king of clubs in dummy, leaving the situation below:

Today's Pointer
Bidding is mental play. Overbidding is the precursor of the number of tricks made by the combined hands is likely to be severely punished, unless the bidder understands the meaning of the ordinary player would fail.

BANK AID IS HINTED
IN REVOLT IN MADRID
MADRID, Aug. 14.—(UP)—The possibility that Spanish bankers and industrialists were involved in last week's unsuccessful monarchist rebellion was reported today in connection with the government's investigation of the outbreak.

The newspaper El Socialista said it was reliably rumored that bankers and industrialists generously supported the movement against the republic and they are opposed to the present regime's socialistic program.

INSTALLMENT XXXIX.

"Drove yourself." A cloud threw a shadow obscuring the granite slits of eyes. "Too bad! Now if there'd been someone with you, we could clear things up in a hurry. Maybe we can do it anyhow." He was silent a while.

"Then you keep a car?" Tony retorted before the question, shot with startling suddenness from between pursed lips. The head of the detective emerged from between his shoulders like that of a bellicose turtle. She was a fly caught in the trap of his making. If she admitted having a car he would want to know more about it. He would discover that the car belonged to Donald Kemp; that Donald had left it for her use. Donald's name would be appropriated by headline hunters to unke a feast for the scandal gizzards, as hers had been. If she refused to answer—evasion was tantamount to guilty knowledge at least.

"I can't see what has to do with where I've been," she said stolidly. Her glance in the mirror met Tom Stewart's eyes. There was that in them so different from anything she had seen in a man's eyes before—she was on the verge of crying out against it.

"But someone must have seen me, Monsieur," when I came in to get instructions about La Lynton's dress. Of course someone did. You saw me, Miss—Kline—didn't you? You gave me the note Monsieur left for me."

The sharp-nosed eyebrowless woman at the small desk by the window sniffed and pressed a wadded handkerchief to her dry lips. Her answer was directed to Montieu.

"As I explained to you, monsieur," she piped. "I know nothing about the note. It was on your desk and when I came back from the studio it was gone. I don't remember anyone coming for it."

"Why Miss Kline—" the panic in Tony urged her toward the small desk, "surely you recall handing me a note. You picked it up from Monsieur's desk and told me his secretary was off for the day."

"I'll thank you to keep your distance from me, Antoinette Brookes," the pipe became a shrill whine. "And you needn't be accusing me of lies, either—not the likes of you. Acting like you owned the place, when the rest of us work years to—"

"Vite, Kline! Get out. Go!" Montieu gestured dismissal. "Stay in the workroom until I send for you. You are a cat, spitting and mewling."

Cat! Claws that scratched. Once before Miss Kline had been sent back to the workroom—when Montieu took over her drawing board and assigned it to Tony. Miss Kline had a convenient memory. Keen for remembering, implacable for forgetting. Aside from Miss Kline, no one, to Tony's knowledge, had seen her in the studio Saturday.

"Most unfortunate," Montieu ruffled his hair. "And when you were doing so well, too. It is better, perhaps, that you take a rest."

"A little rest, away from the studio, until this—shall we say—misunderstanding—is cleared. Your presence would be disturbing. Already the staff talks of nothing else. Not a stroke of work from them this morning. And the notoriety—if the name of Montieu should get into the papers—that would be bad, very bad."

Tony turned toward the door.

"I understand, Monsieur Montieu," she said, lifelessly. "I'll go. And thanks for the help you've given me. I've loved working here. I'd hoped to do better. Better even than 'Tree-bloom' or 'Glacé de Coeur'."

"Bien, petite. You will do better. And for Montieu. When the selfishness of that young swine—pardon—is blown away and there is a new moral on which the public may sharpen its tongue, then you will return to the drawing board. A week, a month maybe, and it is forgotten." Tony pulled on her gloves. She said: "If I leave this studio now, I will not return. Not next week, or next month, or ever."

"Tut, tut, petite." Monsieur snorted. "Never is a long word. You have a huge future, a great future in your work. And where better than in the studio of Montieu can you coax that future to grow?"

Montieu was ruffling his hair and following her with puzzled frown as she hurried past the studio door into the street.

Business Tone Improvement Noted by Charles N. Dannels

A general improvement in the tone of business, and some improvement in actual volume, are noted by Charles N. Dannels, president of the Atlanta Milling Company, makers of flour.

"Our own volume of business is good," said Mr. Dannels. "We are working on a 15-hour day, and we are expecting even better business."

He understood that manufacturers of canned goods are marking up prices for the first time in two years. "I think that even where no actual improvement is felt, there is a decided increase of optimism. This change of sentiment has been in evidence since about the first of July."

Mr. Dannels said that while improved sentiment is ahead of actual business as a whole, that better feeling was a necessary preliminary to better actual business.

MORGAN PLAN BANK

The regular semi-annual 4 percent dividend on stock of record July 1 has been declared by the Morgan Plan bank of Atlanta. Checks will be mailed to stockholders August 15. This payment represents an annual dividend basis of 8 percent. A substantial amount was also passed into the surplus account.

What is true of the Morgan Plan bank is equally true of the other Plan institutions throughout the south, especially in Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Alabama and in Waycross and Rome, Ga.

COOTON SIGES UP AT THE WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The cotton market displayed greater activity during the past week than for any like period in July, and prices have shown greater advances.

At the high point of the week, reached Thursday, prices showed a gain for October contracts of 180 points compared with the close of the preceding Saturday, October at 7-40 represented an advance of 254 points from the lowest of the year, 4-92 reached on June 10. This represented an appreciation in the price of cotton of $12.50 a bale.

Profit-taking near the close of the week caused a recession from the top of about 30 points leaving the net advance for the week about 100 points, or $5 a bale.

The main stimulating influence back of the big advance was the sensational moderate estimate of the crop by the government of 11,306,000 bales issued on Monday. This represented a prospective yield of this year's cotton crop fully a million bales smaller than the expectations of traders prior to the issue of the bureau's estimate.

Another stimulating influence was the report that a banking syndicate was being formed to take over the cotton held or financed by the farm loan board which, if effected, would take the board out of the market.

The advance greatly stimulated the demand for spots and considerable hedging was noticed in the market as a result. Exports have also been rather liberal during the two weeks of the new season which have now elapsed.

The following shows the high, low and closing sales of the New Orleans futures the past week, compared with a year ago.

	High	Low	Close	Last
October	7.46	6.22	7.28	7.20
December	7.63	6.23	7.41	7.41
March	7.70	6.23	7.41	7.41

BETTER LEAF PRICES EXPECTED IN CAROLINA

FLORENCE, S. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Farmers of eastern South Carolina confidently expected improved prices for their leaf tobacco crop.

Markets are thrown open in this belt and border counties of North Carolina Tuesday.

The farmers here said they anticipated a heavy opening "break." Government estimates that this year's South Carolina crop is but 36 per cent of normal, spurred growers' hopes for prices in excess of last year's, which were disappointing.

Reports that the crop is of good quality were brought in as farmers awaited opening prices with interest. Curing has been progressing rapidly. This belt will be the first to open and growers throughout the south are awaiting opening prices with interest.

One experienced tobacco man said today he expected the average to run to at least 12 cents, which is about twice of last year's average. He said this section is especially desirable for the manufacture of cigars, thus demanding a higher price.

In the nearby border counties of North Carolina and South Carolina, the tobacco will be heard in warehouses at Chadbourne, Fairmont, Lumberton, Whiteville, Tabor and Garfield.

HUEY LONG REFUSES TO AID MRS. BILBO IN CONGRESS RACE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Huey P. Long, Louisiana's governor, refused to aid Mrs. Bilbo in her race for Congress.

Long is enough in one season, figured Huey P. Long, Louisiana's governor, in turning down a request from Mrs. Theodore B. Bilbo, twice first lady of Mississippi, who has congressional aspirations.

Minful of the Kingfish's success in the election of Mrs. Thelma Caraway to the United States senate from Arkansas, Mrs. Bilbo telegraphed Long that she would enter the congressional race as a candidate-at-large if he would bring his sound trucks and orchestra to Mississippi to her aid as he had done in Arkansas.

"I have no intentions of going into Mississippi," said the Kingfish today. "And I have no intention of endorsing the boom of Lady Bilbo as she had said she would not run unless Huey Long came over the line and helped her. If Mrs. Bilbo is elected, she will have been in a field of about 30 candidates, including her husband, ex-Governor Thelma Bilbo, who is seeking a comeback politically after the wrecking of his machine in the election of last year when the Bilbo supported candidates made a sorry showing."

Mrs. Bilbo explained that she would not be running against her husband as they both would be candidates-at-large if his candidate finally were permitted by the courts, and indicated that it was possible that she and her husband might be elected at the same time, giving the country two representative Bilbos in Washington.

Long probably was prompted in rejecting the invitation because of his political squabbles with Bilbo when they were governors of neighboring states. In a heated controversy Bilbo accused Long of trying to meddle with Mississippi's affairs and Long retorted that it was time somebody took a hand in them.

POPE F. BROCK TO JOIN ATLANTA LAW FIRM

Pope F. Brock, senior member of the law firm of Brock, Sparks & Russell, of Macon, will move to Atlanta and become associated with the firm of Spaulding, MacDougall & Sibley, with offices in the First National Bank building, on September 1, it was announced Sunday.

Mr. Brock has been practicing law in Macon for 18 years. He is a native of Franklin county. Mr. Brock is president of the Macon Taxpayers' League and the University of Georgia Alumni Association, and is past president of the Macon Bar Association and Civic Club. Members of the local law firm are J. J. Spaulding, Eugene Spaulding, Dan MacDougall and John A. Sibley.

Improved Business Sentiment Showing in Quickened Buying

BY FRANK H. McCONNELL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—While most business barometers continued to show subnormal activity, there were scattered evidences during the past week that improved sentiment was crystallizing itself into the form of quickened buying.

The textile industry, at least in wholesale lines, has shown a moderate pick-up. Bradstreet's reports that the "best" manufacturing activity seems to be in the smaller plants, which apparently have adjusted themselves more quickly than the larger ones to new conditions. The cotton textile industry, in particular, was said to have benefited from rising prices.

While unemployment is still acute, according to Dun's review, some gains have been shown and these are strongly marked in New England "where operations have been renewed because of requirements which should have been provided for months ago must be met." The August report on cotton, says this authority, "indicates such a shrinkage in yield as to practically insure ample provision for the present large carry-over."

Very little reflection of actual improvement in buying was recorded in the heavier industries. An interesting indication of improved sentiment was furnished in the long stagnant steel industry. Prices of steel products continued firm and a sharp drop in the cash sales of an advance was reported in prices of steel scrap, normally the first division of the industry to register any important change in consumer demand. A mark-up of 50 cents to $1.50 a ton was reported in most districts.

Wide interest was again shown in the railroad, although nothing very concrete came out of the week's sessions in New York.

Another development which attracted wide interest was the proposal of Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, that a plan be worked out for financing the movement of commodities into finished goods. There was a report that a definite plan had been worked out and would be ready for announcement early next week.

BONDS HOLD FIRM AS STOCKS DROP

BY VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The steadiness of bonds in the face of heavy liquidation of stocks, was the feature of the market last week. Wide fluctuations in railroad issues and a sharp drop in the United States treasury group unsettled the list in the brief Saturday session, but substantial recoveries before the noon hour left the market as not altogether happy ending.

The market had advanced, almost without interruption, for a month and a half, at the close of the week, the 3 per cent government bonds were at 77.5 and the high of 78.1 was established March 10. Last Saturday the average closed at 71.5.

The utilities and some of the industrial also were in demand. The federal section was generally firm until a ruling by Attorney General Clegg last year when the market effect that currency issued by banks against Treasury 3-8s, 3-10s and 3-12s under the Glass-Steagall bill, must be canceled.

During the early bullish enthusiasm extensive advances were made in all important groups.

In later recessions the industrials suffered somewhat severely because of an absence of nearby demand.

BRIGHT SPOTS

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Sales of pig iron and scrap have converted optimism into tangible business in the steel industry, said the magazine Steel, with conditions here and there, and department stores in Cleveland and Buffalo and Toronto. Particular interest was reported on the part of small buyers as to forward requirements, which may be met by the steel industry.

In the nearby border counties of North Carolina and South Carolina, the tobacco will be heard in warehouses at Chadbourne, Fairmont, Lumberton, Whiteville, Tabor and Garfield.

SENATE ABOLITION SEEN BY IRISH FREE STATE

DUBLIN, Aug. 14.—(UP)—The Free State government is planning to abolish the second election (upper house of parliament or senate) because it is acting against the national interest as viewed by the cabinet of President Eamon D. Valera.

Gerald Roland, parliamentary secretary to the president, disclosed the plan today when, in a speech at the Castle, he said the government plans to introduce a bill into the diet (lower house) for abolition of the senate.

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Dr. Joseph Klein, noted Atlanta sculptor, will exhibit several of his latest pieces at the Art Center in New York, beginning in November, he announced. His exhibit will be made at the special request of the director of the Art Center.

M. E. Coleman, director of the attendance and census of the Atlanta school department, Sunday urged parents to register their children who intend to enter school in September at once. Registration will be made on the tenth floor of the city hall. All children must be vaccinated, he said, before they are registered.

Boy Is Electrocuted As Boat Strikes Wire

DEXTER, Maine, Aug. 14.—(AP) Paul S. Weadock, 18, of Greenfield, Conn., a student at a boys' camp near here, was electrocuted today and his body flung into the sea when the boat's mast struck a power line.

The body was recovered later by a diver brought to the scene by a plane.

Robert M. Masjoan, son of an Argentine steel manufacturer and Weadock's companion in the boat, also was thrown into the water but was able to swim ashore.

Masjoan said a blinding flash occurred as the boat's mast struck the low-hung power lines crossing the lake. Weadock sank immediately.

Masjoan, although numbed, managed to struggle toward shore. An examining physician said Weadock had died of electrocution.

Addressed the Men's Bible class of St. Mark's church at Peachtree and Fifth streets on the subject, "Love Thy Neighbor—Thyself." Judge H. W. Hill, teacher of the class, was out of the city and "Cousin" Fred Houser conducted the meeting.

Cecil Powers, 21, of an English avenue address, Sunday was admitted to Grady hospital with a compound fracture of the left leg following an accident on his motorcycle on Bankhead avenue near Moxley park. Powers collided with an automobile, it was said.

J. W. Brown, 70, of Marietta, Sunday was treated at Grady hospital for bruises on the chest received when a car which he was riding turned over. Details of the accident were not available.

C. A. Egler, of a local hotel, was arrested Sunday for drunk and reckless driving after he drove his car into a telephone post guy wire on Decatur street, the angle of the wire causing the car to turn over on its side, according to police reports.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of Fulton superior court, Sunday morning addressed the Men's Bible class of St. Mark's church at Peachtree and Fifth streets on the subject, "Love Thy Neighbor—Thyself." Judge H. W. Hill, teacher of the class, was out of the city and "Cousin" Fred Houser conducted the meeting.

Cecil Powers, 21, of an English avenue address, Sunday was admitted to Grady hospital with a compound fracture of the left leg following an accident on his motorcycle on Bankhead avenue near Moxley park. Powers collided with an automobile, it was said.

What Course Will He Take?

Adolf Hitler, leader of the powerful Nazi party, Sunday held the course of German history in his hand as he pondered his next step in Germany's political tangle. Despite wide gains in the recent elections he has been refused the chancellor's post. He has at his command a veritable army of "brown shirts" and there is fear in the Reich that he may choose a policy of violence seeking to take by force the power he has failed to gain through the ballot box. The picture is by Associated Press and was taken as he emerged from a polling place after voting in the last election.
